

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to an electrophoretic display having display cells filled with an electrophoretic composition which comprises a bi-modal particle system dispersed in a dielectric solvent or solvent mixture. The display has shown a 5 higher % reflectance or whiteness, a higher contrast ratio, improved threshold characteristics and better bistability.